Airbus Helicopters Canada celebrated the company's 30th anniversary Friday. The Fort Erie facility is recognized as a centre of excellence for composite component manufacturing within the Airbus Helicopters Group. The Fort Erie plant employs 230 people.

Airbus Helicopter is Fort Erie's success story and the key to that success is their employees, says Romain Trapp, the company's president and CEO, who toured the plant on Friday to help celebrate their 30 years of operation.

"They are the ones who for the last 30 years have definitely contributed to the success of our company and it has been through their dedication, enthusiasm and professionalism," said Trapp, who began his career in aviation at Airbus in Toulouse, France, where he held several key positions.

He was the executive vice-president and CFO of American Eurocopter in Dallas, Texas, from 2008 to 2013 and was named president and CEO of Airbus Helicopters Canada in July 2013.

Trapp was joined by a number of special guests and dignitaries for a tour of the Gilmore Rd., facility on Friday which provides specially-built aircrafts for customers across Canada and the world.

'PC Ladies' celebrate 75 years of service

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

At a time when society didn't expect women to involve themselves in politics, a group of women made a controversial decision.

They met to discuss how they would be able to support Progressive Conservative candidates on both provincial and federal levels.

Together, these women formed the Fort Erie Progressive Conservative Association of Women 75 years ago and were known to many as "The Fort Erie PC Ladies."

"You were activists in 1939. You thought about what we needed for this country," Federal Minister of

Fort Erie Progressive Conservative Association of Women

• The association began in 1930. Florie Hayes was the founding president.

• Along with political duties, the Fort Erie PC Association joined with the I.O.D.E. to knit socks, mittens and scarves, and packaged bandages for soldiers overseas.

• The Fort Erie PC Association encourages women to work in campaign offices, make phone calls from home, act as scrutineers and poll clerks during provincial and federal elections.

• The association awards a student at Niagara Christian Community of Schools, Fort Erie Secondary, Ridgeway-Crystal Beach and Lakeshore Catholic High Schools with a $200 bursary to attend college or university each year.

Conservative Association of Women celebrated its 75th anniversary with a luncheon held at Bridgewater Golf

SARAH FERGUSON Fort Erie Times

Federal Minister of Transport and Halton MP Lisa Raitt was the keynote speaker for the 75th anniversary of the Fort Erie Progressive Conservative Women's Association Saturday, at Bridgewater Golf and Country Club in Fort Erie.

- Create a climate for Commercial and Economic growth
- Investor Confidence and Trust needs to be re-established and Country Club.

Raitt attended the celebration to share her experiences in politics.

Raitt said members of the women's association, including its founding president Florie Hayes, "knocked on hundreds of thousands, maybe millions of doors in the last 75 years" to make sure "great people" were elected.

"A lot of women don't go into front line politics," Raitt said, adding more women should enter into politics.

Because of organizations like the Progressive Conservative

Women's Association, barriers have been broken down.

"I chose to go to university, I chose to do a master's degree, I chose to go to law school," Raitt said. "No where along the way was I told that I couldn't."

But that wasn't the case for people like Raitt's aunt. "My mother's sister had a baby and she was told in 1967 that she couldn't teach anymore. She had to stay home."

"Now, women can go into politics and they don't feel (the same) barriers."

Choosing a political career isn't an easy decision to make, according to Raitt.

Raitt said she has to find the time to juggle her career while making sure she gets her kids to their hockey games on time.

The balance between work and family has been difficult for women for generations.

"When my grandmother was raising seven kids and she had no washer and dryer, washing clothes was a full-time job in itself," Raitt said.

Women do the best they can in their careers, and for their families. "Women deal with issues along the way. There's no such thing as balance."

Raitt believes more women need to "put their name on the ballot" because there are organizations such as the Fort Erie Progressive Conservative Association of Women to support them "along the way."

"In everything that I have studied and learned, I believe when you have more women on your boards and in senior management positions, your company does better," Raitt said.

"We do better when we're represented better."

Niagara police recruiting new auxiliary members

Alison Langley
QMI Agency Niagara

When not working as a custom wood finisher, Michael Robinson goes against the grain when it comes to how he spends his spare time.

The St. Catharines resident is a member of the Niagara Regional Police auxiliary unit.

Auxiliary police are volunteers who supplement police officers in a number of areas, including crowd and traffic control at large events, as well as accompanying rank and file officers on ride-a-longs.

"I find it personally rewarding," Robinson said.

"You get to meet people at their best and at their worst and, by far, the people at their best outweigh the negative experiences."

Robinson was an auxiliary officer 11 years ago and decided to return to the NRP in 2012.

Shelly McCallister, of Niagara Falls, has been an auxiliary member since 2010.

"I love it," she said. "You get exposed to so many different experiences with all sorts of people."

The NRP has about 65 auxiliary officers. The service is hosting several recruitment information sessions later this month in a drive to increase its ranks.

"With the Pan Am Games next year, we're going to need a few more officers available to us," said NRP Insp. James McCaffery.

Thousands of people are expected to descend on Niagara in July to watch canoe and kayak sprint events and St. Catharines and Welland.

All auxiliary volunteers undergo an eight to 10-week training course which covers everything from use of force training, understanding federal and provincial statutes and the Mental Health Act.

Candidates must be 18 years of age or older and go through the same physical and psychological screening process as police recruits.

Volunteers are expected to put in about 12 hours of service per month.

Becoming an auxiliary officer, McCaffery added, is a great way for people to determine if a career in law enforcement is for them.

"If you think you want to be a cop, you can see what policing is all about," said McCaffery, who started with the NRP as an auxiliary officer 30 years ago.

"I did some ride-a-longs with some senior officers and I thought this would be something I'd like to pursue."

Aaron Anderson, of Welland, and Sarah Rice are both hoping to pursue a career in law enforcement.

"I joined the auxiliary because I wanted to see

The Niagara Regional Police is recruiting volunteers to become auxiliary police officers. Upcoming information sessions will be Sept. 25 at 6 p.m. at NRP headquarters on James St. in St. Catharines and on Sept. 29 at 6 p.m. and Oct. 4 at 1 p.m. at the Welland detachment on Lincoln St.

what policing was all about," Anderson said.

Rice, of Fort Erie, agreed.

"I'm an aspiring police officer and this is a great program if you are looking to get into policing or if you just want to help out in your community," said Rice, whose twin sister Jennifer Nelson is an NRP constable. alison.langley@summedia.ca

Last Saturday, company employees and families were invited on site to celebrate the milestone event. More than 1,000 people were expected to visit the facility over the two days.

"We make the best product and are able to provide helicopters that are reliable and well fitted for the Canadian market," said Trapp.

The Fort Erie plant is recognized as a centre of excellence for composite component manufacturing within the Airbus Helicopters Group, which employs more than 1,000 people in Canada. Their sister company is Vector Aerospace Ltd., which is headquartered in Toronto and is a multinational aviation maintenance and repair operations company with facilities across the country.

Trapp said it generally takes three to four months to build a helicopter, but that could take longer if a customer requires custom-built features. The cost for a helicopter can range from

Legion asks town to remember veterans

Residents are encouraged to view a remembrance book on display in the town hall's atrium.

Royal Canadian Legion president Larry Graber presented Mayor Doug Martin with the remembrance book at Monday night's Council meeting. The book highlights 51 fallen Fort Erie veterans from the First World War. Graber asked that the book be on display all year.

"We want these 51 men to be remembered and not just as names on a cenotaph," Graber said. "They went off to war and each of these men were someone's son, brother, husband or sweet heart. We should know what they sacrificed for our freedom."

Councillors invited to Crystal Beach run

Organizer Phil Smith invited council to attend the 10th annual Crystal Beach 5km Run and Walk on Saturday, Oct. 11.

The race begins at 11 a.m. on the corner of Erie Rd. and Ridgeway Rd., at the Crystal Chandelier with an after party to follow at Sneakers.

This year, Smith said the event will feature former Canadian Olympic athlete Mike Strange as the official starter.

The run "began with humble beginnings" 10 years ago, and now it draws more than 800 to Crystal Beach over the course of the Thanksgiving weekend, Smith said.

"We think this is a great event for the whole family and we are proud we've had at least one four-generation family compete," he added.

Do You Remember?

Last week's photo has generated quite a buzz here at the Fort Erie Historical Museum, out in the community and all the way down to the U.S.

Anita Gould e-mailed the photo to her cousin Pat (Thomas) Bliss who then contacted her brother Len.

Pat and Len were the children of LeRoy (Babe) and Marie Thomas who started Thomas' Candy, a travelling concession business supplying taffy bars, candy apples,

You may remember their distinctive bright yellow caravan with its red lettering proclaiming "Thomas' Candy - Made its way in the way its made" shown by the

Our thanks to the family for sending along this photo and telling us about the history of Thomas' Candy.

This 'Last Supper in Wax' trailer (bottom left) was a business that LeRoy and Lois (Gonder) Thomas took all though the eastern United States displaying it at Lions Club carnivals and shopping malls.

letters to the editor

Thanks for a great trade show

Dear Editor,

On behalf of the staff and board of directors of the Greater Fort Erie Chamber of Commerce, we would like to extend our most sincere gratitude to everyone who came out to support our annual Trade Show on Sept. 18 at the Leisureplex.

A co-operative partnership with our dedicated team at town hall, working with us on many levels, certainly helped to ensure the success of this event. Also, thanks to the 58 exhibitors from across the region who offered samples, demonstrations, retail sales, information, door prizes, and stimulating conversation to the attendees.

And of course, kudos to our tireless event volunteers, Helen McCreadie, Karen Huntley, Sonia Brisson, and Trish DiMarcantonio, whose help was invaluable.

But it was the participation of more than 450 members of the public who kept the banquet hall full throughout the five hour event who truly made the event memorable.

As "The Voice of Business," the Chamber is thrilled to nurture our business community as well as provide a free and engaging event for the public.

We look forward to an even a larger crowd next year.

Ania Szado, an author 'to watch' is coming to library

The Fault in our Stars, a hit movie based on the best-selling book by John Green, will be shown tonight at the Fort Erie Public Library, Centennial branch, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Encores will be screened at the Crystal Ridge branch on Saturday at 2:30 p.m. and Sept. 30 beginning at 2 p.m.

Fault in our Stars is a romantic drama is about two teenagers who share a sharp wit, an unconventional outlook, love, and membership in a cancer support group. Movies at the library are $3.

Come and read to the Therapy Tails dog! If your child needs a bit of extra reading help or is fearful of dogs, this is a perfect time for your family.

Research shows that kids of all ages benefit

Amy Roebuck
Fort Erie Public Library

from reading out loud, and the Therapy Tails dogs are the best listeners! These friendly, trained dogs will be at the Centennial branch of the library on Sept. 27, from 2:00 to 3:30 p.m.

Oct. 1 is National Seniors' Day in Canada, a time to share our time and our appreciation with seniors, the people who have built our communities.

One suggestion for spending time with a senior on that day is paying a visit to the library, and the Centennial branch of the library will be ready and waiting at 2 p.m. on Oct. 1 with drop-in activities to help seniors—and everyone else—have fun and keep their minds active. Will bowling, chess, Sudoku, crosswords and more; the public is invited to enjoy fun ways to keep their brains active and healthy as they get older. This activity afternoon is free, and all ages are welcome.

Also on Oct. 1, library staffer and published author Derek Clendening will meet with writers of all ages, teen through senior, to offer support, challenges and homework, too, to get the creative juices flowing and to keep aspiring authors on track. Bring your work; bring your questions to this free monthly session.

Coming in October: Knitting at the library is now offered for all ages.

The ladies of the Bowen Road Women's Institute have been sharing their expertise and heritage with young people at the Crystal Ridge branch of the library on Thursday evenings at 6:30 p.m. in a free public program. Now, they are extending their invitation to adults. Beginning Oct. 6, they will teach teens and adults to knit in weekly sessions at the Centennial branch on Monday evenings at 6:30 p.m.

They will provide all the needles and yarn needed; you bring your curiosity and desire to learn. If you have needles or yarn, bring them along, but the BRWI will provide all that is needed.

Stories for twos and threes, a story and activity time for little ones, will begin a new season at the Crystal Ridge branch of the library on Tuesdays and the Centennial branch on Wednesdays, beginning Oct. 7 and 8 at 10:30 a.m. Children from 18 months and up are welcome to join in for reading, writing, talking, singing and playing, the five fundamental skills that get children ready to read. Pre-registration is not required; each session is $2. The Stevensville branch will also host a session on Monday, October 20.

Ontario author Ania Szado is described as a writer to watch. Beginning of Was, her first novel, was shortlisted for the Commonwealth Writers' Prize for Best First Book.

Her short fiction has also been nominated for several awards including the Journey Prize and the National Magazine Awards. Ania will visit the Centennial branch of the library on Tuesday evening, Oct. 7 at 7 p.m. to read from her second full-length work, Studio Saint-Ex, a fictionalized account of the life of Antoine de Saint-Exupéry, author of Le Petit Prince.

Copies of both of Ania's works will be available for sale and signing at this reading. The library acknowledges the support of the Canada Council for the Arts, which last year invested $137 million to bring the arts to Canadians throughout the country.

Amy Roebuck is the community services coordinator at the Fort Erie Public Library.

October Fest is coming to the Sanctuary Centre For the Arts

October Fest! October Fest!

Beautiful October Fest Brimstone Brewing Company's Tap Room was quite busy last weekend as patrons celebrated October Fest on Sept. 20 which coincide with the beginning of the Oktoberfest in Munich, Germany.

Despite common believe, this famous beer festival doesn't happen in October but starts mid-September touching only the first week of October. Oh boy! That was a lot "October" in a very short time. Anyways, I think everyone enjoyed themselves on said Friday drinking fall inspired beer and eating dishes with sausage with kraut. Local Irish band Finnegan's Wake got everyone dancing right in the tap room. Our beautiful Angie was sporting a dirndl - German/Bavarian dress which was so perfectly suited for the festivities. Well done guys. It almost felt like home.

THE SANCTUARY
CENTRE FOR THE ARTS

Nadine Pizzicorola

It was just too bad that my sister who came to visit our beautiful Ridgeway all the way from Germany missed this.

She did get to experience Paper Lions with Fenian Raid and Bed of Stars, Ivy Coast and Dear Rouge. And what can I say? She loved it and I loved her being there with me. It was just such a surreal feeling to have her at The Sanctuary. Just unbelievable.

All said bands were fantastic. Definitely worth checking out again and again and again. Best of luck to all of you guys as you courageously march on your musical journey bringing us awesome tunes.

Now, if you don't have any plans for Oct. 4, I strongly advise you to give this a try. Gorgeous, funny, charming and oh so talented.

This is how local musician Valery Gore is best described in my opinion. But don't just take it from me. See or more listen for yourself. Valery Gore is releasing her third album "Idols in the Dark Heart" on this very date. The decision to share this album first with the people from her home town is so special and intimate. We are going to be the first to hear this album that took four years to be completed. The musical results speak of lush acoustic instrumental and electronic arrangements. In her lyrics, Valery is examining aspects of human relationships and the turbulences that can occur. Beautiful crafted album.

Miss Gore has been a musician practically all her life getting formal piano classes at the age of eight. She developed her song-writing skills with a shift into jazz studies at Humber College. And after now three albums under her belt, she still manages to surprise us with a very new sound where drum and bass lines are leading the way creating different textures and structures in each song. Really looking forward to experience all of this live.

For more information on all classes, concerts and hall rentals, please visit our website www.thesanctuaryarts.com or like us on facebook. Do you have something on your mind concerning the Sanctuary, the brewery or Crave Local Fresh, please email thesanctuaryarts@gmail.com.

Sugar Creek Band set to rock Legion stage

➤ Concert fundraiser to benefit Niagara Action for Animals

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

Come and dance to country's Sugar Creek Band to support Niagara's furry critters.

The Sugar Creek Band is set to perform at the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 230 in Ridgeway on Saturday, Sept. 27.

All of the proceeds will support Niagara Action For Animals, a non-profit organization devoted to the well being of all animals.

Volunteer Patricia Naylor says NAPA helps subsidize spays and neutering and assisting "where there is a need."

"There are humane societies, and the SPCA but these organizations can only do so much when they are already stretched to

Who: The original Sugar Creek Band

What: Will perform.

When: Saturday Sept. 27 at 7:30 p.m.

Where: Royal Canadian Legion, branch 230
Tickets are $10 and can be purchased at the legion.

Why: To support Niagara Action For Animals

extremes," Naylor says.

"We try to be a backup for these organizations."

NAPA provides education, and focuses on ending all forms of animal cruelty.

"We must frequently fundraise to meet the ever increasing costs attributed to so many animals in need of assistance."

When members of the Sugar Creek Band approached Naylor and the fundraising committee for NAPA, the band wanted to do something to help the organization.

"They are donating their time to help us," Naylor says.

The event will feature a silent auction and door prizes. Tickets are $10 per person.

Tickets can be purchased at the Royal Canadian Legion in Ridgeway, Minor Brothers, at 236 Stevensville Rd., Pet Value at 310 Garrison Rd., and Remedy's at 660 Garrison Rd.

Tickets can also be purchased by calling 505-871-7493 or 905-894-5807.

Naylor says 100% of the proceeds from the musical benefit will go to NAPA.

"All of the money that is donated goes directly to NAPA," the volunteers donate their time and money, and the organization relies on the kindness of strangers to help the animals."

Charity provides hope for people who need it most

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

When there is no hope, South Niagara Life Ministries is there to help.

The Christian charity offers help, resources and counseling free for families and individuals of all walks of life and all faith backgrounds, says executive director Martha Beroud.

"This will be our 22nd year in October and people are still saying they don't know what we do."

South Niagara Life Ministries was the first of five satellite sites created to work alongside Niagara Life Centre, an organization geared toward assisting youth with crisis pregnancies.

South Niagara Life Ministries was established to serve individuals that didn't have transportation to receive services in St. Catharines.

Since it began, South Niagara Life Ministries has grown to include everything from "pregnancy to marriage counseling."

"Our motto is you don't have to do it alone," Beroud said.

Last year, South Niagara Life Ministries served 391 people in crisis. Of those clients, 17% were children and teens, 16% were in their twenties, 21% were in their thirties and 19% were in their forties.

Associate director Chris Polegato said about two thirds of South Niagara Life Ministries' clients last year didn't have a Christian background.

"It doesn't matter where you come from, sometimes you just need help," she said.

"When you look at the services we offer, it is a picture of what our society is dealing with."

Polegato says South Niagara Life Ministries is completely funded through donations from members of the community.

"We receive no funding from a government agency so we've never had to worry about funding cuts because we've never had funding to begin."

South Niagara Life Ministries operated out of its Jarvis Street location until supporters of the charity helped pay for the building on Gilmore Rd.

The organization has two full-time staff members "for administration purposes" and volunteers help out where they can.

The community can help support South Niagara Life Ministries this Saturday during the Lion's Sugar Bowl Park and Walk at Sugar Bowl Park.

SARAH FERGUSON Fort Erie Times

Associate director Chris Polegato and executive director Martha Beroud invite the community to attend the Walk and Roll at Sugar Bowl Park this Saturday to support South Niagara Life Ministries, a Christian charity that provides counseling free of charge to people from all walks of life and backgrounds.

Registration begins at 9 a.m. and the walk begins at 10 a.m.

A free barbecue and concert will follow the event.

Volunteers will also honour the life of Ruth

Benner, a support of the charity, with a commemorative tree planting.

The Life Tree of Hope is "a memorial site for future generations" and a community reflection site for people to go and reflect when their loved ones don't have a graveside to go to.

For more information about South Niagara Life Ministries call 905-871-0236 or visit online at www.snlmccounsel.ca.

Driver charged after hitting officer

HARRY ROSETTANI Special to The Times

A 58-year-old Fort Erie man was charged with making an improper left-hand turn following a two-vehicle collision involving a Niagara Regional Police officer last Friday. Const. Derek Watson said the driver was travelling south on Thompson Rd. when he attempted to make a left hand turn onto Bertie St., and he struck a police vehicle. The police officer was taken to hospital and treated for minor injuries.

Motorist charged with careless driving

SARAH FERGUSON Fort Erie Times

Niagara Regional Police responded to a call for a truck that became stuck at 8:27 a.m. when the driver failed to take heed of height restriction and continued to drive under the north part of the railway bridge on Bowen Rd., near Phipps St. last Thursday morning. Canadian National Railway attended to the minimal damage to the bridge. The driver also caused about $5,000 to the truck and was charged with careless driving.

- I will continue to monitor and collaborate with those necessary to see that projects like the Canadian Motor Speedway and The Miller Creek Marina actually move forward I will also lend my support to whatever new development that might come as a result of the sale of Fort Erie Racetrack as it's very clear to me that our economic future would be greatly improved by these 3 projects being completed.
- I support the team approach at council to enact Neighborhood Plans throughout our town as they can only enhance the quality of life for our citizens.
- I am running on a platform of improving the shape of our roads and increasing amenities in our family parks in Ward One. I believe we have to do better and I will fight for Ward Ones fair share of the infrastructure pie.
- I will work with council and the DSBN to find practical solutions with regards to empty school properties in our community.
- I will work with the Bridgeburg BIA to attract new investment and to increase it's presence in the community
- I pledge to work with council to increase development and growth in both the commercial and residential sectors to increase our tax base so that we are able to sustain our local business and keep residential taxes stable.

Ask a Lawyer

Q. My father and I are both on the title to his family home and he recently passed away. Do I need to do something special to transfer the property into my name alone? I thought I could do that at City Hall, but they say I need a lawyer.

A. If you and your father held the title to the property as Joint Tenants, and not as Tenants in Common, you can register a Survivorship Application on the title. To do so, your lawyer will need a copy of your father's death certificate and certain other information from you. That will ensure that the property is in your name only. You do NOT necessarily have to register this document at this time. You could wait until you sell the property. However, if you intend to finance the property, the lender will require that the title be formally amended to show you as the sole owner.

ASK THE HAIR STYLIST

Q. How do I prepare for my first color visit?

A. Come with clean dry hair. If the hair is dirty the color may not take as well, colors are much more gentle now than they used to be. Bring lots of photos if you have an exact idea of what you want your hair to look like. If the stylist says it will fry your hair, listen. Remember your hair has limits-it doesn't have nine lives! Big color changes should be made every 4-6 months and color touch ups can be every 6-12 weeks. If you want a different color change every 6-8 weeks, your hair will become damaged and lose likely to take the color properly. Count on the products we use on your hair. There is no wash and wear hair-do without product, use what we use.

Ask The Expert

- Q. Should I have a business plan?
- A. Those that fail to plan, plan to fail. Business always involves risk. You can reduce that risk factor by careful planning. Hard work and a marketable product or service are important to a business - but they aren't enough. In order to succeed, you need to establish detailed, obtainable objectives and goals plus definite time frames for reaching them. To help you make these vital decisions - and to aid potential advisors in your business in understanding them clearly - it is important for you to prepare a business plan. This will enable you to be forewarned of any problems you might encounter in the future and, at the same time, you will be prepared to take advantage of opportunities when they come your way. Accountants, banks and financial advisors can assist with business planning.

ASK THE EXPERT

Q: What are the six skills for success?

A: The traits needed for success can be categorized into six skills essential to an entrepreneur's success:

1. People skills: The way you deal with people will determine much of your success. Good manners, politeness and attentiveness will guarantee ongoing business.
2. Personal skills: A healthy self-reliance is needed to keep yourself motivated. You will spend a great deal of time alone, so listen to your heart but consult your head before making a decision.
3. Knowledge: You have to be thoroughly knowledgeable in the business world. Otherwise, you can get out-steered the second concept of your business and the resulting profitability.
4. Technical skills: Start a business or an area where you can utilize your talents. But you had better acquire technical skills you don't have or cannot learn quickly.
5. Communication skills: You need to communicate with lenders, accountants, bank managers, tax consultants, or other specialists. You need to be able to put your message across and reach commercial clients.
6. Marketing skills: Without a sound knowledge of marketing, you will not have any customers. Marketing is a method to be able to communicate to your potential customers and offer them of your products or services.

Working towards a Stronger Fort Erie

Behind every successful business is a solid group of friends and family. Starting with my first bathroom hair cut at age 13, they have shown great amounts of support and encouragement. This marked the beginning of my journey as an entrepreneur in the beauty industry.

My biggest role model is John Paul DeJoria, the face of Paul Mitchell. John Paul was briefly homeless, sleeping in an old Rolls Royce. He has unarguably achieved every entrepreneur's dream by turning a $700 start up which was Paul Mitchell Systems, into a $900 Million-a-year hair care heavyweight.

I have surrounded myself with other like minded people keeping myself motivated and inspired. This allows me to help motivate, empower, encourage, give confidence and providing useful tips, tricks to my fellow colleagues, clients, friends and family.

Always remember, it's not about the product in the bottle, it's about the people behind that bottle that make it happen!

FORT ERIE NATIVE FRIENDSHIP CENTRE EDUCATION

Literacy Adult Education

The LBS program at the FENFC is a full service literacy program funded by Employment Ontario.

This program is available to all Ontario residents who are 18 years of age or older and seeking academic upgrading. Services are free!

We offer literacy upgrading for Employment, Secondary School, Independence, Post Secondary and Apprenticeship. Some programs include Computer courses (Basic, Intermediate, and Advanced) One to one tutoring, G1 drivers study groups and many more workshops that may benefit you.

Courage to Soar - Alternative Secondary School Program

Fort Erie Native Friendship Centre hosts a teacher lead classroom in partnership with District School Board of Niagara for students to have the opportunity to achieve success in obtaining their Ontario Secondary School Diploma since 2000.

Students' ages begin at 17 years and are supported by a DSBN educator in class and during independent study to obtain credits each semester. Each student has the opportunity to achieve 34 credits each semester, community hours and coop placement. Students participate in various field trips, and cultural extensions that reflect the Aboriginal culture of the communities residing in the Municipality of Niagara.

Academic and Career Entrance

ACE is an academic upgrading program designed to help adults upgrade and strengthen their skills for admission to college or apprenticeship programs. The program is taught in cooperation with the Niagara College Academic Upgrading program who provides curriculum and teachers.

Completion of the program is recorded on the student's Niagara College student transcript.

If you're interested in the many educational programs

FENFC has to offer please call:

Culinary students serve up food that's good for the soul

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

St. Paul's Anglican Church volunteers plan to serve up hearty soul food. And they're going to have help.

Fort Erie Secondary School's culinary students, under the guidance of Afshin Keyvani, are partnering with the church to serve up a delicious lunch on Sept. 27 as part of the Food For The Soul Program.

On the fourth Saturday of every month, St. Paul's hosts the luncheon to provide individuals and families with a nutritious meal from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

When people come into the monthly luncheons, sometimes it's the only completely nutritious meal they receive, says volunteer Barb Steele.

The community lunch program is always hosted by St. Andrew's Knox Presbyterian Church, St. Michael Roman Catholic Church, Victory Christian Centre International at the Salvation Army and Trinity Lutheran Church each Saturday.

The churches are part of the Food Security Network, which consists of individuals who are committed to increasing awareness of food security issues in the community.

Steele says Food For The Soul volunteers are looking forward to working with Fort Erie's culinary students.

"This is the first time working with (FESS). It's going to be a new experience and it will take a lot of pressure off of us."

Volunteer Linda Phillips says the program relies on its volunteers to continue. Food For The Soul. It is an important program, because it provides much more than just a meal, Phillips adds.

"We're fulfilling a need. People are getting a good meal and they are also getting out and socializing. This program is all about the community."

Keyvani says he is happy to see his students given back to the community while taking advantage of an opportunity to improve their culinary skills.

"The first thing I teach is compassion for the community."

All of the food that will be served on Saturday will be completely prepared by Keyvani's students.

"Hopefully, this experience encourages them to become more involved in their community," he said.

If any individuals or businesses would like to assist the Food For The Soul Program call St. Paul's Anglican Church at 905-871-6704. sarah.ferguson@sunmedia.ca

SARAH FERGUSON Fort Erie Times

Fashion show benefits Wellspring Niagara

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

After her friend was diagnosed with breast cancer three years ago, Maria Costa wanted to do something to help.

Costa decided she would rally her friends, and staff at her business, Nino D'Ambra Hair and Aesthetics, to participate in the Relay For Life to support cancer research.

"There are so many people battling cancer and we just wanted to make a difference," Costa said.

About a month after participating in Relay For Life, Costa learned about Wellspring Niagara. Wellspring Niagara offers programs that assist cancer patients and their families with stress and symptom management, fear and isolation, communication, education and access to other resources.

The non-profit organization provides support for men, women and children who are fighting the deadly disease.

With help from friends and staff, Costa said she held the first Vivere Fashion Show with all of the proceeds once again benefiting Wellspring Niagara.

"Vivere is Italian and it means Live Life," Costa said.

The fashion show, which will be held at the Fort Erie Leisureplex on Oct. 24, is a fun way for women to spend an evening shopping for clothing.

"We are celebrating life while trying to focus on the fun to be had that night," Costa said.

Costa said she chose a fashion show as a fundraiser because clothing makes people "feel good." When men and women are fighting with cancer, they don't always feel their best.

"The fashion show is meant as an opportunity for people to put cancer on the back burner for a night."

The show will feature fashions from Three Ferrises Boutique in Ridgway, and Marilee's Bridal in Fonthill.

Tickets are $55 per person and the event will be catered by Maria's Catering. Doors open at 5:30 p.m. with dinner served before the show begins at 7 p.m.

According to Costa, the fashion show continues to grow "bigger and bigger every year" and it wouldn't be possible without the support of local business owners that sponsor the event.

"This fashion show is really becoming a community event," Costa said.

never have imagined a small fashion show started by a hair salon three years ago would have grown so much."

Since the inaugural fashion show was held, the event has raised about $15,000 for Wellspring Niagara.

"Our goal this year is to reach $30,000. We've made about 300 tickets this year, and last year the event was sold out of all of its 200 tickets," Costa said.

She encourages everyone to attend the fashion show because it will be "a fun evening out" that will support a "good cause." "Cancer hits everybody," Costa said.

"We all know a friend, a family member, a loved one who has battled or who will battle cancer." For more information, call the hair salon at 905-

871-6886. sarah.ferguson@sunmedia.ca

From the gardener's journal: Thankful for 'unseen workers' who beautify the town

Ruth Vold Markle
Special to The Times

I wanted to thank the folks who work, unseen to make our community so lovely.

For years I lived in urban settings and was a part of communities that often were so busy and so overwhelmed.

In my daily journeys I see lovely plantings, well cared about neighbourhoods and folk chatting with each other and appreciating the sense of community that exists. I often comment on how lovely the different areas are maintained, especially around the library and many public buildings. The gardens along Garrison Rd. have fresh plantings this year and almost everywhere you can walk or bike you can see folks preparing their spaces for autumn with decorations or mums or second blooms. There is an atmosphere of pride in surroundings that reflects well on all of us.

I have often been asked when it is time to cut back on the blooms. There are a variety of answers to that. I let the seed heads on most flowers serve as food for birds and as next year's growth. I am not anxious to clean out too soon preferring to wait until a time when the last of the blooms are finished. I know others who will quickly prepare the spaces for the next season.

We all engage in preferences and in some ways the growing things continue to grow in spite of what we do or do not.

This time of year I am collecting seeds from some plantings I want to try and grow for next year. I let pansies and other annuals alone so that possibly they may reseed themselves. Sometimes they do, sometimes not but if they do, then spring plantings are enhanced. We are in the process of taking cuttings of geraniums and coleus to grow through the cooler seasons for next year. of course shifting to the cooler vegetables for the late autumn and early winter harvest.

If you are interested in fall cleanup and don't know what to do with your left over garden pots or planting trays we will take donations at the Fort Erie Secondary School Greenhouse. My partner and I are there on Wednesdays and Thursdays so we look forward to any contributions you may wish to make.

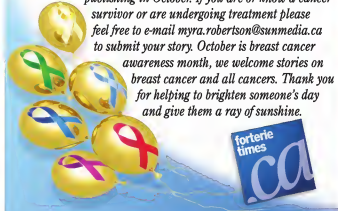

It's officially autumn and for some that can be a gloomy time, less sunshine and cooler evenings. There is an urgency to complete tasks in the light and on 'good' days. I think we can and should still take the moments to enjoy the beauty all around us and to embrace the colours that come with autumn. Some of our 'bloomers' look even better in the cooler weather.

The beach is still the beach, the sunsets are pinker and the trails are becoming wonderful places to explore. You can still catch some monarchs in the afternoon sunshine and you can always scatter sunflower seeds for the birds to enjoy...

Until next week, keep growing.

Celebrating Life!

The Fort Erie Times would like to invite the public to share their Cancer Survival Stories with the community in a powerful cancer awareness section that we will be publishing in October. If you are or know a cancer survivor or are undergoing treatment please feel free to e-mail myra.robertson@sunmedia.ca to submit your story. October is breast cancer awareness month, we welcome stories on breast cancer and all cancers. Thank you for helping to brighten someone's day and give them a ray of sunshine.

FIRE PREVENTION SMARTS

At least 80 percent of all fire deaths occur in home fires. Here are some smart Fire Prevention tips for protecting yourself and your family:

- ✓ Never leave candles burning unattended, and keep matches out of reach from children.
- ✓ Keep space heaters away from curtains and other flammable materials.
- ✓ Install smoke alarms on every floor of your home and outside each bedroom, and test batteries monthly.

Cloutier says he intends to leave Fort Erie 'in better shape' than he found it

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

Mike Cloutier has never sought to work as an elected official in municipal politics before but he has his sights set on the Fort Erie mayor's seat in the Oct. 27 municipal election.

Cloutier, 52, is the publisher for the Ridgeway Herald, a small newspaper that serves the Ridgeway community.

He served as a member of the Fort Erie Historical Museum board for two terms in the 1990s and spearheaded the Local Architectural Conservation Advisory Committee. Cloutier has also served on a number of town committees to "develop strategic planning input" and has spoken to council on "various broad issues of planning and infrastructure."

As a journalist, Cloutier has been reporting on municipal politics in Fort Erie and other communities for more than 30 years.

"It's a place where regular people can have their say and have an impact on the community."

Cloutier decided to seek election because "it is the best way to engage all (he) has learned about (Fort Erie)" to make the community a better place.

"We only have a short time in this world, and I intend to leave it in better shape than I found it," Cloutier said. "Here and now, that means working to make this community greater than it is."

Cloutier says his ability "to see all sides of an issue impartially and without a partisan bias is a great asset for mayor."

"People want to be heard. They want their opinions to be validated," he adds.

According to Cloutier, every issue that touches a person "is important."

There are a number of issues impacting Fort Erie currently which include school closings, health care jobs, and transit. But,

Cloutier says the "number one issue" is "the practical provision of services and thrifty management of resource to give people a great place to live and call home, and to give every resident of Fort Erie something to cheer about."

RICK SHULAR COUNCILLOR WARD TWO

A MESSAGE TO THE RESIDENTS OF WARD TWO

As your voice on council for the past 11 years, I have strived to serve your needs to the utmost of my ability. Having had only 1 agenda, that being "YOUR BETTERMENT", we have accomplished some good things. However, we are not finished yet, and experience is needed.

We must not rest on the past, the next four years present some serious challenges and we must strive for the FUTURE, through TEAMWORK, UNITY, AND EXPERIENCE.

Issues before us include: A Niagara South Hospital, Canadian Motor Speedway, Kinsmen Pool, Economic Development, just to name a few.

Please JOIN MY TEAM as we work to bring back our town to a level we can all be proud of.

ON OCTOBER 27th RE-ELECT RICK SHULAR COUNCILLOR WARD TWO.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT, RICK.

Demizio never one to 'stand on the sidelines'

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

Dean Demizio says he's never been a person to sit on the sidelines, and that's why he's entered into Fort Erie's mayor contest.

"Fort Erie is at a critical point and the next mayor will need to be someone who has the ability to get the town moving forward in all areas of development, jobs, transportation and confidence."

Demizio, a 51-year-old insurance agent who is married and has two children, is past president of the Greater Fort Erie Chamber of Commerce and has "many dealings at all levels of government" from federal and provincial ministers, to regional and municipal councillors.

He's also served as vice-president of the United Way of Greater Fort Erie campaign, and president of the Greater Fort Erie Youth Soccer Club.

Demizio says he has "a record of producing results," which include seeing the addition of lights installed at Optimist Park.

"By running my own business for the past 20 years, I have learned the importance of making every dollar count," Demizio says. "With the economy in Fort Erie being what it is, treating people fairly with honesty and compassion is very important."

Demizio says one of the most important issues for residents is quality of life.

"It's hard to buy groceries, keep a roof over your head and maintain a normal life when there are no jobs to be had," he says.

"Confidence needs to be restored in Fort Erie and it starts with each and every one of us."

Once large developments such as the Canadian Motor Speedway are completed "it will show that Fort Erie is truly open for business and this will get people back to work," Demizio says.

According to Demizio, communication is key.

As Chamber of Commerce

president, I always made members aware of issues by being available to talk with them, having YouTube segments available for them to get information as well as my monthly column in the Chamber News addressed important issues within Fort Erie."

If elected, Demizio says he looks forward to "being accessible" through social media and conducting "open-chat sessions."

Noyes says she can guide the Town of Fort Erie 'in a positive direction'

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

If she is elected as the next mayor of Fort Erie, Ann-Marie Noyes says she will work toward moving the Town of Fort Erie forward.

"I know I can guide this town in a positive direction. I am a good communicator and I am the right person for the job."

Noyes, 60, is an occupational therapist who has served four terms on Fort Erie council, and has served three regional committees.

Ann-Marie Noyes

Since she has been away from council, Noyes has continued to serve the community as a volunteer on the accessibility, hospital services and gaming committees of the Stevensville Lions.

Noyes says she has the experience, dedication, knowledge and commitment to "do the job well."

"My many years on council and in private practise have provided me with the experience and qualifications to lead this town in an efficient and progressive manner."

According to Noyes, the most important issues for residents in the upcoming election include improving communication between members of council and staff.

The Town of Fort Erie also needs to invest in job growth, keeping Douglas Memorial Hospital open, finding efficient ways to lower sewer, water and property tax costs, and managing environmental concerns.

Noyes says Fort Erie "has great potential" and the community needs to work together to realize it.

Attracting industry and development is the first step," she adds. "The anticipated Canadian Motor Speedway can be the beginning. It will put us on the map."

Noyes encourages every eligible voter to exercise his or her right to vote on Oct. 27 because each voice matters.

"One only needs to look at the 2010 election, where the difference between the two mayoral candidates was five votes to understand how important each vote is."

If elected, Noyes says she will lead council "in a respectful and inclusive manner."

"Whether you agree or disagree, it is important to keep the lines of communication open," Noyes says.

"When council makes a decision, there should only be one thing that is going through their minds: Is this good for Fort Erie?"

Candidate says he is 'dependable'

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

At 35, Stephen Passero is the youngest mayoral candidate for the Town of Fort Erie.

The business owner is currently serving his first term as Ward 1 Councillor, and has served on a number of committees which include the Kinsmen Pool Together Campaign, the Fort Erie Santa Claus Parade, the Adult Literacy Council Black White and Red Gala, and the Ontario Shorewalk Association.

Passero has chosen to run for mayor because "there are a number of opportunities on the horizon that (he believes) will be tremendously benefi-

"All of these initiatives take a mayor who is willing to put the effort and time to be at the table whenever duty calls," Passero says. "The residents and business owners deserve nothing less and I know I am up to the challenge."

If elected, Passero says he will lead council "with great tact and dependability" and motivate his fellow councillors "to perform at their best, and reminding them, always that when you have big dreams, you attract great critics."

Former mayor predicts Fort Erie's 'future will be bright'

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

Wayne Redekop is no stranger to municipal politics. The mayoral candidate has served Fort Erie council from 1991 to 1994 and was mayor from 1997 to 2006.

Redekop is a lifelong resident and practices law in Fort Erie. He has been married to his wife, Cathy Green-Redekop for 38, and together they have three daughters, Lindsay, Hilary and Kylie.

Living in Fort Erie gave Redekop the opportunity to "pursue and fulfill" his dreams.

"I believe it (Fort Erie) has tremendous potential for success, but we are not taking advantage of the opportunities all around us," he says.

If elected as mayor, Redekop says he was drawn from his experience as a lawyer to work with council to ensure the Town of Fort Erie has "the right resources, staff and strategic partners in place" to create jobs, ensure an open and accessible town hall, empower community groups and residents to work together and improve the community and build on the town's strengths by developing a waterfront strategy, capitalizing on access to the U.S. border and developing a tourism strategy.

Redekop says Fort Erie is "facing many challenges which include "a negative image" outside of the town, the loss of "a very good professional staff" and a divided community.

"But our future can and will be bright," Redekop says.

"We can turn things around by re-branding

Fort Erie's image," he adds.

Redekop's vision for Fort Erie includes "holding the line on taxes" by managing the town's finances wisely and welcoming new business and investment in the community.

Redekop also wants to improve communication between town staff and the public by "using the latest technology to notify residents of important matters.

"I will also guarantee that council will deliberate in public so that its work can be scrutinized by residents, unless the Municipal Act mandates otherwise," he says.

sarah.ferguson@sunmedia.ca

Passero 'in tune' with town

From Page 38

"I am in tune and in touch with all major projects and stakeholders," Passero says. "I have experience in today's economic climate and the issues currently facing our town. My first year won't be spent getting up to speed. It will be focused on speeding things up."

Passero predicts a hopeful future for the Town of Fort Erie by encouraging investment, development and tourism.

"I view the future of Fort Erie as a community where we consistently grow, thrive, prosper and turn potential from something we know we have into something we know we've taken advantage of."

Former cop says Niagara is a drug 'gateway'

Dan Dakin
OMI Agency Niagara

The local border between Canada and the U.S. is looked at by those in the drug trade as an express lane according to a former Niagara cop.

"Around the world we're becoming known as an easy place to get in," said Joe Maggiolo, a retired Niagara Regional Police staff sergeant who spent much of his 37-year policing career investigating drugs and organized crime. "For every shipment that gets caught, there are probably another 20 that get through."

Maggiolo wasn't particularly surprised to learn about a drug sweep early Monday morning that busted a criminal organization allegedly importing cocaine from Mexico through the U.S. and into Canada. Three of the 14 people arrested were from Niagara.

"Niagara has been a sleepy hollow for so many years. It was in our backyard and people just didn't pay attention to it," said Maggiolo, who retired in 2012 and is now running for a council seat in Niagara Falls. Maggiolo was the lead investigator behind Project Ink, the biggest drug bust ever in Niagara that ended a drug ring attempting to smuggle 400 kilograms of cocaine a week into Canada. The importation and distribution ring was said to be worth nearly $2 billion a year.

Police at the time of the Project Ink raids said it was a big enough bust that it would change the street value of cocaine in Canada. But Maggiolo said he expected someone else to step into the kingpin role.

Monday's bust was proof of that, he said.

"This just tells you we're just at the tip. People don't want to admit it's happening in their backyards."

Niagara's important role in the drug trade comes down to access, Maggiolo said.

"It's a gateway," he said. "Niagara is surrounded by two lakes, we have the river and three international bridges with tractor trailers coming back and forth."

The former investigator believes cocaine is flowing south to north while ecstasy and marijuana is sent from Canada to the U.S.

But NRP Staff Sgt. Shawn Clarkson, who took over after Maggiolo retired, said the latest drug bust proves Niagara isn't the only point of entry for drugs.

"This project uncovered information that yes, the border point in Niagara does have (drugs) coming through it, but it's also coming up through Montreal," he said, adding that drugs are also often shipped directly from Central and South America to Canada via the oceans.

"There were (suspects arrested) in Niagara, but the bulk of the players, the main players, are in Peel region and in Toronto," Clarkson said.

Maggiolo said he thinks the cutbacks to police services are making the jobs of drug investigators more difficult.

"The policing services are doing their best to tackle it, but you always hear about the cuts, cuts cuts. We're getting there, but we're losing the battle."

It's because they've become more sophisticated ... These guys have the best lawyers and the networks are so professionally laid out that everything is systematic."

Maggiolo expects another group will step up once the dust settles from the Project Roadmaster sweeps, similar to what happened after the Project Ink investigation.

"Someone else's network will take that load and the cycle continues over and over again," he said.

United Way aiming to raise $1.1 million

Alison Langley
QMI Agency Niagara

The United Way of Niagara Falls and Greater Fort Erie is hoping to raise between $1 and $1.1 million this year, explained executive director Carol Stewart.

raising campaign.

The 2014 goal is similar to last year's campaign, which fell just short with over $800,000 raised.

"We have several goals this year," explained executive director Carol Stewart.

Kirkby.

"We have a goal of actually increasing the number of people who participate and our other goal is to at least maintain the dollar value we invested in the community last year which was around $800,000."

The campaign kickoff was held last Friday at Oakes Park. Earlier in the day, Niagara Falls Mayor Jim Diodati's Healthy Lunch fund-raiser also took place at Oakes Park. Funds raised from the lunch event benefited the United Way campaign.

"The Healthy Lunch event is a good fit for us," said Stewart-Kirkby. "If people lead a healthy lifestyle then we will have a healthy community."

In Fort Erie, the campaign kickoff took place Tuesday from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the Boys and Girls Club on Lewis St.

The goal for that campaign is around $220,000.

Various events are planned for the duration of the campaign.

"Come out and support the events," Stewart-Kirkby said. "Every dollar counts for us."

There are also a number of workplace campaigns on the go "which are the meat and potatoes of what we raise," Stewart-Kirkby added.

The 2014 campaign chairman for Niagara Falls is Mike Cressman, publisher of the Niagara Falls Review. Jennifer Pellegrini, from the Niagara Catholic District School Board, is the chairwoman of the Fort Erie campaign.

Twenty-seven agencies in Niagara Falls and Fort Erie, including the Brain Injury Association of Niagara and the Distress Centre of Niagara, benefit from United Way funding.

Pharmacists FLU VACCINE

It is time to start thinking about getting the flu vaccine. There will be flu shot clinics offered in the local area in the upcoming weeks that anyone can go to. Other three clinics are underway. There is still a great deal of misunderstanding about the flu vaccine and who should be immunized.

Each year an average of 20,000 people are hospitalized, and between 2,000 and 8,000 Canadians can die of influenza and its complications. Those most likely to suffer complications of the flu are the most vulnerable: children under two and adults over 65. The seasonal influenza vaccine is safe and effective and can benefit people of all ages. The flu shot only provides protection up to 12 months. Immunization is required each year. This year's flu shot and clinics against the 1914 H1N1 flu virus as well as two other strains of the October to mid-November is the best time for immunization, but the vaccine may still be given in winter months.

Who should get immunized? The following is a list from the recommended guidelines.

PEOPLE AT HIGH RISK OF INFLUENZA-RELATED COMPLICATIONS, INCLUDING:

- ADULTS AND CHILDREN WITH CHRONIC CONDITIONS SUCH AS:
 - CARDIAC OR LUNG CONDITIONS SUCH AS ASTHMA
 - DIABETES MELLITUS AND OTHER METABOLIC DISEASES
 - CANCER, IMMUNODEFICIENCY, IMMUNOSUPPRESSION
 - RENAL DISEASE
 - ANEMIA
- CHILDREN AND ADOLESCENTS WITH CONDITIONS TREATED FOR LONG PERIODS WITH ASPIRIN
- ALL RESIDENTS OF NURSING HOMES OR OTHER CHRONIC CARE FACILITIES
- RESIDENTS OF LONG TERM OR SHORT
- PREGNANT WOMEN
- CHILDREN 6 MONTHS TO 23 MONTHS OF AGE
- PERSONS WHO ARE MORBIDLY OBESE
- ADDITIONAL PEOPLE

PEOPLE CAPABLE OF TRANSMITTING INFLUENZA TO THOSE AT HIGH RISK OF COMPLICATIONS, INCLUDING:

- HEALTH CARE AND OTHER CARE PROVIDERS
- HOUSEHOLD CONTACTS OF THOSE AT HIGH RISK AND TO INFANTS LESS THAN SIX MONTHS
- MEMBERS OF A HOUSEHOLD EXPECTING A NEWBORN DURING FLU SEASON
- WOMEN AT ALL STAGES OF PREGNANCY OR BREASTFEEDING INFANTS
- THOSE PROVIDING RESIDENTIAL CARE TO CHILDREN 2-23 MONTHS
- THOSE WHO PROVIDE SERVICES WITHIN CLOSED SETTINGS TO PERSONS AT HIGH RISK

OTHERS

- PEOPLE WHO PROVIDE ESSENTIAL COMMUNITY SERVICES
- PEOPLE IN DIRECT CONTACT WITH ANIMAL INFLUENZA INFECTED POULTRY
- HOUSEHOLD CONTACTS OF THOSE AT HIGH RISK AND TO INFANTS LESS THAN SIX MONTHS
- MEMBERS OF A HOUSEHOLD EXPECTING A NEWBORN DURING FLU SEASON
- WOMEN AT ALL STAGES OF PREGNANCY OR BREASTFEEDING INFANTS
- THOSE PROVIDING RESIDENTIAL CARE TO CHILDREN 2-23 MONTHS
- THOSE WHO PROVIDE SERVICES WITHIN CLOSED SETTINGS TO PERSONS AT HIGH RISK

Children 6 months to less than 6 years who have never received the seasonal flu vaccine require two doses, with a minimum of four weeks between doses.

Please remember that the flu shot cannot cause the flu. If you have become sick after getting the shot in the past it was a coincidental infection of some other kind. The main side effect is a pain and redness at the site of injection for a day or two after the shot.

The flu shot is effective. Scientific studies show the effectiveness of the flu shot to reduce from 70% to 90%.

Adults over 65 should also look to getting the pneumococcal vaccine. Pneumococcal disease, a common complication of influenza, is a bacterial disease that can cause meningitis, bacteraemia (bloodstream infection) and pneumonia. You can get this vaccine at the same time as the flu shot through your doctor.

To take you meet get your flu shot through your doctor or the flu shot clinics in the area. All some point in the near future this vaccine may become available to be given by your pharmacist who will be trained to give injections.

If you have any questions about any of the above information please call or visit your local pharmacy.

Studying Mars

NASA's Maven spacecraft, which was launched in November 2013, has entered orbit around Mars. Maven will start probing the planet's upper atmosphere in an attempt to figure out how and why Mars changed from a warm and wet environment into the cold and dry desert it is today.

(Mars Atmospheric and Volatile Evolution)

Launch weight: 2,550kg

Instruments

- Six sensors for studying solar wind, ionosphere and magnetic field
- Sensors to measure characteristics of upper atmosphere and ionosphere
- Spectrometer to measure composition of upper atmosphere

The mystery of the disappearing atmosphere

Scientists strongly suspect Mars used to have surface water, something that would have required a thicker atmosphere than it has today.

It's suspected Mars lost 99% of its atmosphere over millions of years as the planet cooled and its magnetic field decayed.

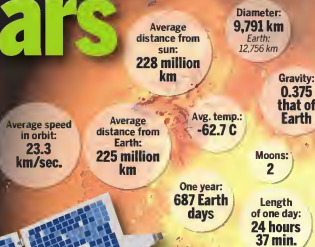

MAVEN will spend at least a year studying how this process may have happened.

Two men arrested following knife attack

Tony Ricciurto
QMI Agency Niagara

A Fort Erie man was in hospital recovering from multiple stab wounds following a robbery at a home on Phipps St., early last Saturday morning.

Two other Fort Erie men have been arrested in connection with the incident and remain in police custody.

Niagara Regional Police report members of their service and Niagara Emergency Medical Services responded to an address at a home on Phipps St., shortly before 8 a.m., after receiving a report of an assault.

The investigation revealed the lone male occupant of the home had been assaulted by two male suspects with knives and was robbed of property.

Police have not released what property was taken during the robbery.

The victim was treated at the scene for multiple stab wounds and transferred to hospital for further treatment. The victim was reported to be in stable condition in hospital.

Two suspects were later arrested without incident at a residence in the town of Fort Erie.

Charged with aggravated assault and robbery are Michael Collins, 40, and Robert G o r h a m -

Collins, 28, both of Fort Erie. Both males are being held in custody pending a bail hearing.

Police say the two accused are known to the victim and this was not a random act.

Anyone with information about this incident is asked to call police at 905-688-4111 or Niagara Crime Stoppers.

Teen brings bronze medal home from world kickboxing championships

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

When Christian Pereira stood on the podium and accepted her bronze medal at the World Kickboxing Championships, her passion for the sport grew by leaps and bounds.

"I realized how much I've been training and when I was standing on the podium, I realized how much I really love this sport."

After participating in several training camps this summer, Pereira earned a spot on Team Canada and competed at the world kickboxing championships in Rimini, Italy held from Sept. 7 to 13. Team Canada returned from the competition with one gold, two silver and four bronze medals.

To give her a kick-start in the competition, Pereira joined Muay Thai Niagara in St. Catharines just two weeks before the event. She now trains under the guidance of Roger Lunyong, a well known in the kickboxing world.

Pereira pushed herself past her physical limits while training to compete with Team Canada.

"I was up doing runs at 3 a.m., and I would go to St. Catharines twice a day to train at my gym."

“I'm going to up my training and next time, I'm going for gold.”

— Christian Pereira

Before she stepped foot on the plane, the teen was “already mentally and physically exhausted.”

Pereira faced many challenges even before the competition began. When she arrived in Italy, Pereira learned her luggage and her gear were lost.

She wasn't sure if she would be able to compete.

"I got it all back two days before the competition," Pereira said.

But the teen also struggled being away from home the first time without her mother, Lynn, by her side.

"I couldn't contact my mom because my laptop died and I didn't have the right outlet to charge it," she said.

"I wasn't close to the team and I was stressed out. But, I tried to stay positive."

Pereira didn't compete on the first day of competition, but she watched her fellow team mates.

Morale was low because no one from Canada made that day.

"We thought we couldn't compare ourselves to these people (competitors) from around the world," Pereira said.

"I was first up the next day (in the kicklight division) and one of my coaches said I can't let the team's losses effect me."

She fought a competitor from Ireland and won. The winning match boosted Team Canada's energy level, according to Pereira.

"I won the first match for my team and there was positive energy."

Pereira is proud she was able to help "turn (her) team's spirits around."

The teen lost her chance for a silver or gold medal when she was defeated by a competitor from Italy in her second match.

"I had a lot of emotions," Pereira said.

"I really wanted to win and I knew if I won, I was guaranteed a gold or a silver. I feel like I gave everything and I lost by a split decision."

But the experience Pereira earned by competing in her first world kickboxing championship is worth more than a gold medal.

"I took away a lot of experience and I learned about my inner strength because I couldn't talk to my mom and that was hard. I discovered a lot of things about myself," Pereira said.

"I'm going to up my training and next time, I'm going for gold."

Brick for idling motorists

A brick for all the drivers who park their cars along the sidewalk at two grocery stores. There is a huge parking lot for just that reason, for parking. No need to sit there idling and loading stuff and being in the way of people trying to walk past.

Bouquet for a kind man

A big bouquet for the lovely gentleman who, after seeing me and my three sons at the doctor's office, offered us 20 dollars to buy lunch. What a lovely surprise and so kind. We promise to pay it forward.

Brick for loitering

A brick for all the local youth who stand outside our work place, bang on our windows and have nothing better to do.

Bouquet for children

A bouquet for my kids getting ready for school without complaining too much.

Brick for gossip in the workplace

A brick for all my fellow co-workers who gossip about other co-workers behind their backs. We all know you are saying unkind things about other people. If you can't say anything nice, than don't say anything at all. It's rude.

Bouquet for a husband

A bouquet for my husband who washed all the laundry, made dinner and put the kids to bed before I got home. It isn't always easy but you do a lot around the house to help out. Thank you so much.

Brick for a rude man

A brick for the rude man who complained about the crying baby in the grocery store. This man complained while a young mother was paying for her groceries and her infant was crying while nestled in the car seat. I think it's absolutely terrible that someone would tell a young mother that they should not bring their children out of the house while grocery shopping. Sometimes, a mother has no other choice. This mother was attentive, and caring and dealt with her crying baby. This rude man should have kept his mouth shut. I don't mind a crying baby, but I do mind a loud-mouthed complainer.

Bouquet for young love

A bouquet for the young couple that recently married. Your love for each other is refreshing to see. All the best to you two and your future together.

Meteors defeated Canucks 3-1

Jeff Blay

Special to The Times

Devin Darrah's first goal as a Fort Erie Meteor would have been much sweeter had his team been able to pull off a win.

The Saranac Lake, N.Y. native scored the lone goal for the Meteors in a close 3-1 loss to the visiting Welland Jr. Canadians Saturday in Greater Ontario Junior Hockey League, Golden Horseshoe Conference action.

"It was a tough loss," said Darrah, who scored on a backhand at the 14:06 mark of the first period. "We started off a little sluggish, but the boys battled back. We just couldn't finish."

Welland's Krisj Melna opened the scoring just past the midway mark of the first, following up with another goal on the power play minutes later.

Darrah, who started the season playing defense and was moved back to his natural forward position for Saturday's game, wasted no time in showing his offensive abilities by cutting Welland's lead to 2-1 later in the frame.

"I'm here to play wherever the coach needs me," he said. "Moving up to forward, I got my first goal, but I'll do whatever it takes to help the team win games."

Jack Fitzgerald gave the Jr. Canadians a 3-1 lead 35 seconds into the second, which proved to be the only goal either team would score in the first two periods.

The Meteors showed signs of life in the third, creating several scoring chances and controlling the play throughout the majority of the period. But it wasn't enough to stop Welland goalie Chris Janzen, who made 24 saves to lead his team to a 3-1 win.

"They've played the last two minutes of that third period, we need to do that the whole 60 minutes," Darrah said. "We were tenacious on the puck and they were all over the place, but it's just too bad we waited until the end of the game to play that way."

Fort Erie head coach Bob Hubbert also said his team did a good job of putting the pressure on late in the game, but felt they didn't create enough quality scoring chances.

"The last two minutes, I thought we were all over them and we just couldn't buy a goal," Hubbert said. "The goal that we did score, we were crashing and banging the net. But the first half of the game, we made it easy for them."

"(Their goalie) didn't make any outstanding saves. If you put the puck in his gut every time, you're going to make him look good."

Hubbert, who Saturday coached his first game against Welland, where he previously served as head coach, knows it's still a period of adjustment for the players this early in the season.

"We've got a very young team and we're going to make mistakes, we've just got to be patient," he said. "But you're not going to win too many games when you're only scoring one goal. We've got to find a way to make our own breaks."

"We're a team that's squeezing our sticks right now. If we could just get a goal, I think it would turn the tides."

Still, he took several positives from the loss to Welland, including the play of goaltender Liam Conway, who made

JEFF BLAY Special to The Times
The Welland Junior Canadians defeated the Fort Erie Meteors Saturday 3-1 at the Leisureplex.

34 saves to keep the game at a close 3-1 score.

"Conway gave us a chance to win," Hubbert said, adding Darrah's performance at forward was also impressive. "It's great for him to get his first goal - he was one of the last guys signed on our team - so congratulations to him."

Fort Erie's record now sits at 1-2-1, while Welland improves to 2-1-0.

Cremation will follow. For those who wish, memorial donations may be made to Fort Erie Palliative Care, Wellespring Stevensville or All Saints Anglican Church.

Harold Nelson Grimmell
 Died September 27, 2004

A loving, caring husband, exceptional father, grandfather, great grandfather and friend.

God called your spirit home ten years ago - we miss you still - your hugs, your laughter, your unconditional love.

Until we meet again.
 Meta and Family

Silently, one by one,
 in the infinite
 meadows of heaven,
 Blossomed the lovely
 stars,
 the forget-me-nots
 of the angels.

- Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

Harold Nelson Grimmell
 December 18, 1918 - September 27, 2004

10 years ago your joyful spirit soared
 To find its way to Heaven
 Your life on earth had shown the way
 Your love so freely given

The smiles, the laughter, your giving ways
 Unselfish nature shown
 To those to whom you gave your heart
 This be forever known

God blessed me with a special gift
 A connection like no other
 The caring, nurturing, loving soul
 Of the man I called my father

10 years have passed
 There is no doubt, I miss you every day
 Believing in God's great scheme of things
 He'll guide me back your way

Love Always
 Martha
